

Faculty Scholars

★Education Professor Dan Ouzts, Ph. D., presented his paper titled Books and Social-Emotional Growth Through Bibliotherapy at the 50th Annual Convention of the International Reading Association in San Antonio, TX.

★English Professor Philip Leon, Ph.D., was granted faculty status in the department of the History and Philosophy of Medicine by The Society of Apothecaries of London.

★Economics Professor Don Sparks, Ph.D., has received a Fulbright award to teach and conduct research at the University of Maribor in Slovenia for the spring semester.

★Associate German Professor Katherine Skow, Ph.D., was one of 20 German scholars selected nationwide to participate in the 2005 Fulbright German Studies Seminar in Berlin, Leipzig, and Hamburg.

★Engineering Professor Kevin Bower, Ph.D., was the recipient of the Frontiers in Education (FIE) Fellowship sponsored by the Education, Research, and Methods Division of ASEE; IEEE Education Society; and the IEEE Computer Society.

ACHIEVING EXCELLENCE IN THE EDUCATION OF PRINCIPLED LEADERS

THE CITADEL

The Citadel's academic philosophy is simple — strive for excellence. The facts speak for themselves. Ninety-five percent of the full-time faculty members hold the highest degree possible in their respective fields. Small classes accommodate personalized learning. Cadets in the Honors Program often hold top leadership positions in the Corps. Gold Stars, recognizing grade point averages 3.7 and above, are worn proudly on uniforms.

The Citadel gives Cadets every chance to succeed academically, including a three-day academic orientation program, computer support services, a writing center, math and language tutoring, and a study skills program. Faculty stand ready and willing to help a Cadet at any time.

The message is clear. You have to work just as hard in the classroom as you do in Corps activities and on the athletic fields, but you will get the support you need to fulfill your highest academic potential.