

The Career Services office provides employment counseling; seminars on interviewing, résumé writing, job search strategies, and working with Alumni career mentors; FOCUS, a career exploration software program; and Internet career-oriented Web site; on-campus recruiting (nearly 100 organizations); graduate school research assistance; regional career conferences; and internships at the World Trade Center in Charleston to learn about international business opportunities.

“We can beat the competition in placing graduates because we offer a distinctive and consistent product. Our students look sharp and act sharp. They’re thoughtful and respectful. They’re disciplined, and they can work under pressure. It’s not surprising, then, that so many recruiters visit our campus. I can’t say enough about the support of our 1,000 member Alumni Career Volunteers. They stand ready for a phone call from any student, at any time.”
